Confederate Vets Open 46th Reunion in Louisiana City

Re-Election of Commander of Veterans Causes Much Speculation

PLAN TO MEET AGAIN

Insist on Other Conventions Until Only One Member Is Left

SHREVEPORT, La.—(AP)—Whether
Gen. Henry Rene Lee of Nashville, Tenn., would be re-elected commander-in-chief of the Confederate veterans have caused much speculation as they opened their 46th annual reunion here.

"I am not a candidate for re-election," General Lee said. "But I'll be glad to accept the post again if my comrades offer it to me."

The aged soldiers raised their voices in rebel yells as they met in another of the reunions that each year finds fewer of the forces of Robert E. Lee.

Recently, the "boys in gray" turned down suggestions that the present reunion be their last, because the physical exertion tires their fading health.

In no uncertain terms the veterans insisted they would continue to meet until there was only one left.

Shreveport Last Fort to Fall

They applied themselves in an effort to make the present reunion one of the most successful in history.

Shreveport, then the capital of Louisiana, was the last Confederate fort to drop the Confederate flag, on June 11, 1865, and the remnant of the Grand Army dedicated Fort Smith Memorial Park, marking one of the forts Gen. Kirby Smith built to defend the city.

One of the features of the reunion was the meeting of the last survivors of Nathan Bedford Forrest's famous cavalry. Each year they meet in connection with the Confederate veterans' reunion.

Gen. J. R. Sadler of Nashville, heads the Forrest's cavalry unit and will be up for re-election when the unit holds its annual meeting.

The first formal session of the reunion was preceded by a concert by the United States Marine Band, brought here through a special act of congress and the approval of President Roosevelt.

Higher Potato Prices If Drouth Continues

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The nations housewives may find potato prices will climb for the next month or more if the drouth in potato growing states of the Southeast continues.

The Crop Estimate Division of the Agriculture Department predicted that the present potato shortage would continue through the middle of July.

Weather conditions will determine whether the shortage will extend beyond that period.

The carry-over this year of late potatoes was not heavy. The drouth struck after the marketing of the first early crops of Florida and South Texas.

Officials said that the South Carolina crop is larger than last year but "far below normal." The North Carolina crop, which has just started to market, is 26 per cent below last year's forecast. Virginia's crop is expected to be shorter than last year.

Improves Literacy

CHUNGKING, China.—(AP)—Here is western China the "new life" movement initiated by Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek has resulted in a sharp rise in literacy. Where less than 10 per cent of the children used to attend school, there are today 12,000 of the city's 35-400 youngsters on the rolls.

Senator Frederick Steiwer of Oregon seemed pleased as he read the final draft of his keynote speech. Relieved on a lounge in his hotel room, collar open in deference to the heat, Steiwer worked on revision and polishing of his speech until the last moment.

accounted for, totaling approximately 1,600 votes, the drys were leading by 76 votes in the White county local towns in White county except Rose-bud.

Creosote Is Fatal for Fordyce Baby

Death Results Within Short Time After Swallowing Fluid

FORDYCE.—Dale Barnes, 24-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Newell Barnes died late Tuesday after swallowing and being burned by creosote.

The child was playing at the home of his grandfather, Mr. Easterling, northwest of here.

A can of creosote on a table in the yard overturned and covered the child's face and the baby swallowed some of the fluid.

He died within a short time.

Two More Insane Criminals Nabbed

Only Five of 16 Convicts Still Remain at Large

ST. PETER, Minn.—(AP)—Melvin Passoli, superintendent of the state bureau of criminal apprehension, announced Wednesday the capture of two more insane criminals, leaving only five of 16 who broke out of the state asylum Sunday at large.

They were captured at Waconia, Minn., by peace officers and agents of the state crime bureau when the pair went to the home of a relative.

Negroes Are Unwilling to Accuse White Men

WYNNE, Ark.—(AP)—Chief of Police Frank Clyde said Tuesday night that refusal of two negroes to identify any member of a band of white men who assaulted them last Saturday forced him to abandon efforts to file charges.

"These negroes are afraid to testify against a white man," Chief Clyde said. "I've brought three suspects before them and each time the negroes refused to identify them. They are scared to death."

The negroes, a youth and an elderly preacher, were assaulted between 2
a. m. and 3 a. m. Saturday morning by white men from St. Francis county who were searching for the preacher's brother, who was reported to have drawn a gun on a white man during the cotton choppers strike last week.

Nevada Slayer Is Held Without Bail

Minor Neal, 27, Bound Over to Jury for Killing
His Father

PRESCOTT, Ark.—(AP)—Charged with the slaying of his father, Minor Neal, 27, waived examination before Justice of the Peace W. J. White Tuesday and was ordered held to the grand jury without bond.

Neal's attorneys said habeas corpus action to obtain bail would be instituted before Circuit Judge Dexter Bush at Texarkana.

The father, Dave Neal, was slain Sunday night by a blow on the head with an auto axle received in a fight at his home.

Sheriff Earl May quoted Minor Neal as saying he was protecting his mother from a whip in the hands of his father at the time of the encounter.

Mrs. Hauptmann Asks for Bruno's Property

TRENTON, N. J.—(AP)—Mrs. Anna Hauptmann added to the problems haunting New Jersey authorities since the Lindbergh kidnap-murder by asking Tuesday that the automobile and other property of Bruno Richard Hauptmann be turned over to her.

Prosecutor Anthony M. Hackett declined her request, but made clear he was keeping all exhibits used in the trial which led to Hauptmann's execution as the slayer of Charles Lindbergh, Jr.

15-Year-Old Claim to Property Is Dismissed

CHICAGO.—(AP)—Herman Krueger's claim to some 12 blocks of downtown Lake Shore property, in an area of luxurious hotels and mansions, was thrown out of court Tuesday after 15 years of litigation.

Krueger, 76, retired realtor, traced his claim to one Peter T. Johnson, who built a bathhouse on a Lake Michigan sandbar in 1869. Circuit Judge John Prystal said the region is now worth an estimated $100,000,000.

Steiwer Sounds Keynote Speech; Flays New Deal

Assault on Roosevelt and Call for Party Harmony Features Talk

G. O. P. HALL PACKED

Committee Is Divided on Platform—Landon
Forces Agree

CLEVELAND.—(AP)—Cannonading at the New Deal set the tempo at the third session of the Republican national convention here Wednesday.

The goal to signal the presidential nomination, possibly late Thursday night, was placed in the hands of Representative Snell of New York, who was made permanent chairman.

Landon Stays Away
TOPEKA, Kan.—(AP)—Governor Landon said definitely Wednesday that he would not go to Cleveland "regardless of developments" at the Republican convention.

Governor Landon announced his decision at a press conference after declining the offer of Col. Clarence Chamberlain to fly the governor to the convention city.

Raps New Deal Policies
CONVENTION HALL, Cleveland.— (AP)—A flaming keynote attack upon the New Deal, and a call for members of all parties to supplant the Roosevelt administration with an "American deal," Tuesday night sired the surface of a Republican national convention that underneath was in conflict.

Senator Frederick Steiwer of Oregon, standing at temporary chairman before more than 15,000 persons jamming the huge Cleveland public auditorium to the eaves, brought the convention to its feet, cheering, with a thundering call for party harmony and an assault upon President Roosevelt.

Behind this enthusiastic scene, Republican platform drafters struggled through the night in an effort to avoid a bitter outbreak upon the convention floor Wednesday night.

Landon Forces Agree
The Landon followers, themselves at first divided over a platform, attained a degree of harmony early in the night. But among the anti-Landonites, there was the widest division over such issues as currency and whether a constitutional amendment should be proposed to facilitate state labor legislation.

Just as there has been no apparent coalition among those opposed to the nomination of Governor Landon, who wore a sunflower emblem, has waxed increasingly at this convention, so these same forces were divided Tuesday night on the proper platform.

Col. Frank Knox of Chicago, arriving Tuesday, promptly served notice that he would withdraw as a candidate if the platform did not satisfy him.

His demand for a rigid gold standard plan ran directly counter to the earlier demand by Senator Borah of Idaho that a return to making dollars exchangeable for gold be avoided.

The Chicagoans further call for a constitutional amendment to help the states enact wage and hour legislation also ran counter to the "go slow" signals raised on this point not only by Borah but also Senator Vandenberg of Michigan.

In the enthusiasm-engendering period before Steiwer took the floor, Vandenberg appeared on the platform and was given a brief ovation. Borah stayed away, reading the speech in his hotel room.

Steiwer himself steered carefully away from references calculated to help one candidate or another. His calls for "thrift," his hammering against "New Deal extravagance," brought applause. He cautioned Republicans against "defeatist talk of our enemies."

He was given a minute-long ovation when he finished.

Twice, before he even neared the end of his speech, the husky, 52-year-old Oregon senator brought the convention delegates to their feet.

First when he made indirect reference to former President Hoover, and slashed at President Roosevelt, the delegates rose, making the floor a sea of waving hats swept by a wind of cheers. The debate in March, 1933, he said, was marked when "a president-elect without a conscience refused for four months to co-operate with a president who had a conscience."

His Lost Teeth Are Found in His Throat

PARIS, Tenn.—(AP)—With his false teeth lodged in his throat, Emil Caldwell, 42, will breathe through a tube placed in his windpipe until his condition permits an attempt to remove the plate.

Caldwell missed his teeth several days ago. He went to a physician with a sore throat. An X-ray revealed the plate lodged near his windpipe.

Because of swollen tissues, doctors found it impossible to remove the plate immediately.

Stuttgart Man Is Dragged to Death

Earl Walker, 28, Falls Under Tractor, Badly Mangled

STUTTGART.—Earl Walker, 28, rice grower of near Stuttgart, died in a hospital here at 9 Tuesday night after being dragged under a tractor disc for 30 minutes Tuesday afternoon.

Physicians amputated his left leg at the hip at 7 p. m. in an effort to save his life.

Walker was discovered by a passing motorist, who stopped the investigation when he saw the tractor wheeling crazily through a plowed field.

He found Walker, still conscious, caught between the sharp discs of a three bottom plow.

He was being dragged face downward in the field. The flesh on his hip was cut to the bone in five places.

"I've been caught here two hours," Walker gasped as he was taken from under the machine, but physicians at the hospital said he could not have lived more than a half hour under the discs.

Walker said the tractor seat upon which he was riding broke, causing him to fall in front of the plow.

Walker owned and operated a rice farm south of Stuttgart. The accident occurred on the farm of his father, C.
A. Walker, north of here.

Walker was the brother of the late Virginia Walker, 17-year-old Stuttgart High School senior who died in a Little Rock hospital last month after 21 classmates had volunteered their blood for a transfusion in an effort to save her life.

First Cotton Bloom Is Displayed Here

The first cotton bloom to be reported from the Hempstead county crop was displayed here Wednesday by Will Key, Hope Route Four.

He said that the bloom was produced from the crop planted by himself, his son Charles Key, and Clifford Russell. They are partners.

The cotton was planted March 19.
The early bloom was attributed to recent hot and dry weather.

Sets Argentine Record

BUENOS AIRES.—(AP)—Police of Buenos Aires have found that only one individual in a million has fingers sufficiently abnormal to foil finger-print records.

In more than 20 years of fingerprinting 2,000,000 Argentines and foreigners for personal identity papers, the police have run across just two persons whose fingers wouldn't register.

The second case, that of Raymond Inslee Mount, an American business man, came recently 20 years after the only similar case on record here.

The police found that Mount's fingers left only a black smudge, the skin being completely smooth. Mr.
Mount said that the phenomenon of smooth fingers, without sensitivity to pain, runs in his family.

Dyess Colony Is Visited Tuesday Mrs. Roosevelt

First Lady Receives Warm Welcome in Northeast
Arkansas

GREATLY IMPRESSED

Big Crowd Grooms Her—
She Insists on Shaking Hands

DYESS COLONY.—Mrs. Franklin D.
Roosevelt looked on Dyess Colony Tuesday night and found it a keenly interesting enterprise.

It was dark by the time she reached the colony from Memphis so she could not tell much about the farms and the farming operations but she had ample opportunity to view the colonists who were out in full force to greet her.

Despite the lack of light, Mrs. Roosevelt did make a 20-minute inspection tour as soon as she arrived with Floyd Sharp, state WPA administrator and president of the colony corporation, Col. Lawrence Westbrook, assistant national WPA administrator; E. S.
Dudley, colony administrator; Mrs.
Ernie Maddox and Mrs. C. E. Moort, daughters of Governor Futrell, who were official hosts.

Returning to the administration building where the 2,500 colonists and 1,000 visitors had congregated, Mrs.
Roosevelt made them an excellent speech describing what she had seen and predicting success for the colony.

Then she did one of those specially gracious things which have so increased her to the American people.

After she finished speaking, Mr.
Sharp took charge as presiding officer.
He said, "Mrs. Roosevelt has had no dinner and she must be back in Memphis soon. She would be very happy to shake hands with each of you I know but time does not permit."

Second Appearance
He dismissed the meeting and took Mrs. Roosevelt inside the building but as they went she was explaining something to him very earnestly.

Almost immediately they re-appeared and Mr. Sharp spoke again.
That time he said, "Mrs. Roosevelt says that she would far rather forego her dinner than miss shaking hands with you."

A cheer went up from the crowd.
The smiling guest of honor walked down on to a lower step. The colonists started filing past kept in line by motorcycle police who had escorted the party from Memphis and several volunteers from assemblage.

For a half hour, Mrs. Roosevelt stood there shaking the hand of each man woman and child who passed.

She didn't even slight the babies who were carried past her. For each she had a smile and any who wished to speak to her was sure of a warm response. Some of the colonists did speak to her.

Others ducked their heads shyly as they went past but their faces glowed. When the last hand had been shaken Mr. Sharp called for a cheer for Mrs. Roosevelt and the sound that resulted was something to marvel at.

Southern Chinese Troops on March

Move Into Hengyang, Women Missionaries Ordered Out

SHANGHAI.—(AP)—British authorities ordered women missionaries Wednesday from the Hengyang area of Hunan province, said to have been occupied by advancing troops of the Canton (South China) government.

Hunan lies immediately north of Kwangsi and Kwantung provinces, which make up the Canton government, and is affiliated with the Nanking National government. Canton apparently is seeking to force Nanking into a joint war against Japan.

General Ho Chien, governor of Hunan province, announced at Changsha the Canton forces occupied Heng-yang. Hengyang is about 110 miles north of the Kwangtung border, halfway to Changsha, the capital.

Italy Defaults on U.S. War Payment

Italian Airrears Now Total $63,494,977—Offers no Settlement Proposal

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Italy joined Great Britain Tuesday in defaulting on its semi-annual war debt payment to the United States, raising to $63,494,977, the amount of the Italian arrears.

In the same routine fashion followed by the British government, Aug-usto Rosso, the Italian ambassador, notified Secretary Hull that his government regretted its inability at this time to offer any new proposals looking toward a settlement of the debt.

His communication was in reply to the regular note dispatched by the State Department on May 22 reminding the Italian envoy that his country owed a new installment of $15-64,593 due next Monday.

Including the regular semi-annual payment and installments already in arrears, a total of $1,160,122,766 will be due the United States from 13 countries on June 15.

2 Persons Killed by Helena Youth

W. A. Campbell, Jr., 21, Arkansas College Student, Is Held

HELENA.—J. A. McCraw, 28, and an unidentified negro were shot to death by McCraw's brother-in-law, W. A.
Campbell Jr., 21, student at Arkansas College, Batesville, at the home of Campbell's parents, Dr. and Mrs. W.
A. Campbell, 15 miles west of here, late Tuesday.

The shooting followed a family quarrel.

Young Campbell surrendered to officers after the shooting and is held in the county jail here on a first degree murder charge.

McCraw was shot when he attempted to remove some furniture from the Campbell home where he had been living with his wife.

Young Campbell used two revolvers and eight bullets struck McCraw. He died en route to a Helena hospital.

The negro had driven a truck to the Campbell home at McCraw's request and was to pick up a pig that McCraw said belonged to him.

He was struck by a stray bullet, but this did not become known until an hour later when his body was found in some tall weeds.

The only witnesses were Mrs. Mc-Craw and Dr. and Mrs. Campbell.
They refused to discuss the case and Young Campbell would not make a statement. Young Campbell had just returned from Batesville where he

Your Baby's Health

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Whenever a new solid food is added to baby's diet, always begin with a small amount—no more than a teaspoonful. As new foods are added, the baby of course will take less of the foods that it has been getting.

The refined or white cereals are given first, because they are more easily digestible and less likely to be laxative than the whole grain cereals. Cereals should be cooked with salt and water, or with milk, according to the instructions accompanying the specific product, if it is packaged. If not, the proportion for farina is about one part of the farina to six or eight parts of water or milk.

Such mixtures are brought to a boil and cooked in a double boiler for one or two hours. When made with milk, farina will provide about 30 calories for each tablespoonful, with water, about 20.

Potato may be substituted for some of the cereals. Potatoes also should be well cooked and mashed. In this form, the vegetable usually is as digestible as other forms of starch. Later, spaghetti or macaroni may be used.

Crackers, zwieback, dried bread, or toast may be given when the teeth have started to appear and it is possible for the baby to chew these substances satisfactorily.

Use of new pureed green vegetables frequently are begun as early as the fifth or sixth month, and by the ninth month may occupy an important place in the diet. They are prepared preferably by boiling or baking.

The water in which the vegetables are cooked should not be discarded, because it contains some of the valuable salts.

Your Children

By Olive Roberts Barton

Dr. A. R. Dafee, physician to the Dianne quintuplets, discussing sunlight in "Parents' Magazine," warns mothers of very fair-skinned babies and young children, that sun-bathing is not a "fool-proof blanket prescription."

He says, "Some little ones, especially those with very fair complexions and light hair, have skin which burns easily in the direct rays of strong sunshine. Some children should take sun treatment only when the direct rays of the sun are softened and radiated by clouds, or what is called skyshine, obtained on the north side of a building. This diffused light and the movement of the air on bare skin is truly beneficial. Consult a doctor about sunbathing your child. Use caution and discretion if you would have your baby get the greatest benefit of the sun's rays."

Examine Child's Pigment
This, I am sure, will be of interest to many mothers, especially those whose children have begun to break out in tiny water blisters on hot days. Adults, too, of fair complexion, who have not already discovered what strong sun does to them, may be enlightened. I know one young woman of twenty-five, also a mother of six, who never can go out on a bright summer day without large-brimmed hats. Summer to them spells misery.

And so it seems advisable to study one's children for pigment, the coloring matter in skin cells that protects both skin and body. The darker the skin, the less hazard of exceptional sunburn.

Most children will toughen against the sun. But there still remains that exception to the rule, the extremely fair one. The shaded sunlight, so to speak, is best for him when playing. It is not only the skin that suffers in these cases, but other things can happen as well. Just what harm too-long or too-hot applications of Old Sol can do to the body must be explained by the experts. Although it is known that sunshine is necessary for health and growth, it is also known that place and place play a part.

When Changing Environment
It is not wise, for instance, to take a child to high mountains where the air is thin, and then suddenly turn him loose for all day minus a hat or protective clothing, or any place in-lodged where the actual rays of the sun are not filtered by air density, without early precautions. The child should always wear a hat and be gradually accustomed to the new environment. He probably needs the very rays he is getting, and mountain air is a grand thing; but the wise mother will watch the first few plunges into the bright sun.

As for the baby and his sun baths, the best time of day in this latitude is before eleven and after three, generally speaking, now that the sun is high. As the good doctor says, "Sky-shine has its benefits." Except for short periods, on hot days baby should be in the shade. There is no use cooking him. It is always best to let your doctor direct matters.

A Book a Day
By Bruce Catton
After the Spanish conquistadors had cleaved up on the Aztec empire, they looked about hungrily for new worlds to conquer. Someone directed their attention to the remains of the great Maya empire in Yucatan, and they moved in on it, horse, foot, and gun.

The result was that they obliterated a civilization which—except for the fact that it did not use metal tools—was actually superior to their own. All this is set before you in "The Conquest of Yucatan," by Frans Blom (Houghton, Mifflin; $3.50). It is a fine book which not only tells how the gold-hungry Spaniards effected their conquest, but also gives an excellent description of the fascinating and bizarre Maya culture.

The Mayas, Mr. Blom remarks, possessed a very high civilization, but—as in medieval Europe—the arts and sciences were all in possession of the upper class. The Spaniards exterminated that class; consequently, although the great majority of the Mayas survive to this day, their culture has almost vanished—leaving us with a great wealth of most amazing jungle ruins to study for clues to origins of the culture.

Mr. Blom takes occasion to explode some of the pseudo-scientific theories about the Mayas' beginnings, including the fantastic thesis that they came direct from ancient Egypt.

Mickey Cochrane Sent to Hospital

Detroit Manager Is Ill From Worry Over His Team's Showing

BOSTON.—(AP)—Mickey Cochrane, manager of the Detroit Tigers, turned over his world championship club to Coach Delmar Baker Tuesday night and returned home to enter a hospital.

He is due in Detroit Wednesday and arrangements have been made for a 10-day stay at the Henry Ford hospital for observation.

Cochrane was advised to take hospital treatment when Dr. Eddie O'Brien, former noted football official who serves as the Red Sox physician, examined him at St. Elizabeth's hospital.

Dr. O'Brien found he was suffering from a hyperthyroidism that required an operation if a complete rest failed to improve his condition.

Cochrane has been out of the game since Thursday when, after hitting a homer inside of Shide park in Philadelphia, he became dizzy while running bases.

The Detroit pilot, according to teammates, has been worrying over the club's failure to maintain its 1934-35 stride.

To The Voters of Arkansas

Senator Arthur Johnson of Star City, Lincoln County

We, his neighbors and friends, present the name of Arthur J. Johnson for your consideration as a candidate for Governor.

Arthur Johnson is capable and dependable. He is a business man who has made a success of his own affairs. He is a farmer, lawyer, civic and financial leader. The people should be interested in securing an honest man with experience and ability to direct the affairs of the State economically. Arthur Johnson meets that requirement. He is not a professional office holder, publicity seeker, and will not be the noisiest promiser in this campaign. We know he will make a good Governor for all the people.

After deciding to become a candidate, Mr. Johnson submitted a condensed platform upon which he will stand when elected:

1. State government kept on cash basis; no more debts.
2. The re-established state credit maintained, and road improvement district taxes kept off the land.
3. Efficient rural schools; monthly pensions for old age.

Mr. Johnson will give his position on every issue during the campaign. He will not be evasive or abusive. Arthur Johnson was born and reared on a small farm in Lincoln County, operated by his father, pioneer citizen. He spent his early youth, like most farm boys, performing farm labor and attending the public schools from two to five months a year, graduating from Star City High School. Working his way through the University of Arkansas, he graduated from that institution in 1907. He also finished a course at Lebanon Law School and was admitted to the bar in 1909.

OUTSTANDING SENATE RECORD
He was elected to the Senate in 1933 without opposition in his party primary. He served as a member of the Senate under the present administration with unusual ability and distinction.

Mr. Johnson's election for the Senate by the people of his district was due to a demand for his services at the time because of the many important matters confronting the state government. He served on the most important Senate committees, supporting and aiding very materially in enacting legislation reducing the cost of government, out of which reducing pressing obligations have been met; in reducing the automobile tax, securing passage of the pre-paid act, the budget relief act, the act regulating public utilities (which has saved the people hundreds of thousands of dollars), legislation for the relief of public schools, the very important refunding act, and legislation looking toward providing old age pensions and caring for the state's helpless.

We believe the people of Arkansas are seeking an honest man with experience and ability to direct affairs of the state economically—a man capable of working out the man problems that confront us, in the interest of the whole people, and not for the benefit of a few office seekers. Upon investigation, the voters will find Mr. Johnson not of the type that shouts the loudest, or seeks great publicity upon every occasion, but a man of fine moral character, in sympathy with the masses, from whom he sprang.

Knowing our neighbor and friend to be such a man, we ask the voters to learn about Arthur Johnson, his early life and labors in order to qualify himself for service, and a place of honor among his fellow men. We are sure if you do this, you will find Arthur Johnson a man thoroughly capable, of proven integrity, honest and in hearty sympathy with our people. He will be an efficient governor of you choose him, and not a man dependent upon a cabinet of political soft-place hunters for advice.

AN ABLE BUSINESS MAN
Throughout his life Mr. Johnson has shown business ability—his personal habits are above reproach, and he has a record of economy and thrift, and a willingness to serve for the good of his community, county and his state.

Senator Arthur J. Johnson

for GOVERNOR

Mr. Johnson is not related to any other candidate for state office, has no political obligations to meet, and as your Governor will be in position to choose those it will fall to his lot to place in position of service, men of his type, which will mean an administration of honesty, economy and justice to all.

Missing Girl Is Returned to Home

Says She Left Home Because of No Bright Lights and Entertainment

WASHINGTON, Ill.—(AP)—Dorothy Blumenshine, 14, school girl for whom a posse and bloodhounds searched in vain after she disappeared 10 days ago, was back with her family Tuesday night.

She returned to this little town—where she said she left because it had no bright lights or excitement—a few hours after a Chicago Times reporter found her in that city, where she had kept her identity hidden while authorities of several counties hunted for her.

She will escape the punishment she feared because of the high balls she drank before "passing out" at a party Saturday night, May 30, it was said by her father, Dr. Emil Blumenshine, veterinarian.

He took her for an automobile ride with her mother and three brothers. The family was glad to have her back, but Dorothy said she "hated" it. She asked Eleanor and Florence Kolek, the sisters who took her to their home in Chicago to help her persuade her parents to permit her to work there.

She had found a job as a waitress the morning she hitchhiked to Chicago instead of going home from the Saturday night party, she said, because she feared her father would "get mad" about the lateness of the hour and the drinks.

NEW YORK—Trial of the $470,000 breach of contract suit against Rudy Vallee, and the National Broadcasting Company, ended Tuesday when Supreme Court Justice Timothy A. Leary quashed the action.

Vallee's lawyer moved for dismissal on the grounds that the Villa Vallee was closed before the crooner signed with N. B. C. Justice Leary agreed that Bellak, and not Vallee, had been guilty of breach of contract and dismissed the suit.

Thoughtlessness in cooking steaks and chops may make them an extravagant luxury, sure enough. They are not so, necessarily, to begin with. Porterhouse steak is carefully prepared in many households so that it is not given its full value. Aside from the waste in bone and fat, the tail usually is considered unfit to eat. More of—ten than not it is over-cooked before the rest of the steak is done and appears on the table an unappetizing burnt offering.

But the tail has a fine flavor and if it's cooked properly is just as desirable as the tenderloin itself. Try trimming the meat from the fat. Put this piece of lean meat through the food chopper twice. Season with 1/4 teaspoon salt and a few grains of pepper. Mix with a few dried bread crumbs and a tablespoon of oil. Stir lightly with a fork until thoroughly mixed and shape in a small cake the thickness of the steak.

Broil With the Steak
Fit the cake into the side of the steak and bring the fatty end of the tail around it. Run a skewer through the fat and meat cake into the joint of the steak to hold it securely. Broil as usual. Remove skewer before sending to the table.

Rib lamb chops are cheaper than loin but they too may be served just as attractively if boned and rolled. Ask your butcher to "French" the chops for you. To do this he will scrape the meat from the bone. Then you can disjoint the rib from the bit of back bone and curl the meaty end back against the eye of the chop. Fasten with a skewer to keep in shape during cooking. Broil as usual and remove skewer before serving.

Cheep cuts can be run through the food chopper several times and made into flakes that can be cooked quickly and are tender and appetizing. It's true that most of the quickly cooked cuts of meat are the expensive ones and few of us want to spend long hours in the kitchen cooking the cheaper cuts so the chopping of the coarser-grained cuts makes them tender enough to cook quickly.

Choose your vegetables and desert just as carefully when you build your dinner around a tricky piece of meat as you would if you were serving fish mince. Try this menu: Frenched lamb chops with potatoes in parsley butter, Julieanne carrots in orange cream, a salad of tomatoes stuffed with cottage cheese and chives and a dessert of pineapple ice with sponge cake.

Four Are Arrested on Fraud Charges

Arkansans Accused of Defrauding Federal Government on FHA Plan

HELENA—Walt McKinney, about 45, former Marvell business man and planter, C. M. Shattuck, 26, of West Helena, C. R. Schuele, 34, of Helena and J. M. Farr, 34, Helena grocery clerk, were arrested Tuesday on charges of conspiracy to defraud the federal government.

They were ordered held to the federal Grand Jury on bonds of $2,500 each following a hearing before United States Commissioner Peter A. Deisch.

It is charged that they conspired to defraud the government through the sale of electric refrigerators under the Federal Housing Administration's plan covering household appliances.

It was testified at the hearing that Jesse Jackson, former Helena automobile and electric refrigerator dealer, opened an agency here about a year ago and sent his salesmen to homes of persons of doubtful credit rating and sold about 80 electric refrigerators. Notes for the refrigerators were sold to banks under the FHA plan.

It is alleged that Jackson made no effort to collect for the refrigerators and that the banks turned to the FHA in an effort to collect.

An investigation was made by Norman W. Ferris, special investigator for the Department of Justice. Through his efforts the four arrests were made.

At least six other arrests are expected Wednesday. Jackson now is operating a filling station in Memphis. It is alleged that Jackson faked the credit rating of his customers in selling the paper on the machines to the banks. When the FHA began its investigation Jackson closed his agency and left the state.

WITH THE LADIES

By Helen Welshimer

I don't care who his grandfather was . . . if a man doesn't take off his hat in an elevator, I don't like it! The elevator may be in the senatorial building or a dime store, but I don't think a hat has any business on a man's head when a woman is taking a ride, too.

Old-fashioned? Outmoded? Extravagant waste of time? Of course it is. Maybe that's why I like it. After all, there has to be some foolish memento of the days when women were accorded special privileges.

Those men who got together down in Washington the other day and decided to do another alphabetical society to the New Deal list were serious about the right hand movement which removes a hat when a woman enters an elevator. The newspapermen and congressmen, are calling themselves the Association for the Prevention of Taking Off Hats in Elevators. Lots of women are saying it's a good thing because they have had their eyes blackened when a derby or a slouch hat came off.

Etiquette in Social and Business Spheres
I like men who open doors for women, too. I like men who seat women at the table. I even like to hear men ask if they may smoke, although they know, of course, they may.

And I'm very, very fond of men who give up their seat in the subway to strange women. I don't know any men like that, though. I could like them. I mean, if I ever met any.

Women may say that they want to be treated just like men. They don't want to be treated with all the advantages that men have, and then supplied with another full set because they are women. Most of us don't admit it until something absurd, like the "hats on" movement comes along to waken us.

Certainly there are certain social conventions that are superfluous in business offices. An executive who arose every time his secretary entered to bring him a brief or take a letter might be a nice man but he would be

The Centennial

Cooperating with the Arkansas Centennial Commission on the rice section of Arkansas will revive its Arkansas Rice Carnival on October 21-22-23 to the first time since 1929.

The carnival is known all over the United States and has long been regarded as one of the outstanding agricultural fairs in this section of the country. As many as 50,000 people have attended the Carnival during its three day run in past years. People came from all over the state and from many other states in special trains.

At the last carnival a 12-coach special came from Memphis.

A portion of the carnival will be a pageant depicting early history of the state before statehood was granted. Arkansas county is the mother county from which the others were divided. The pageant will also deal with the beginning of rice cultivation in Arkansas in 1904.

July 4 will have a full day program in Haystack for the county. A big parade at 11 a. m. will be followed by speaking by public officials and games throughout the afternoon. At 8 p. m. a pageant of Arkansas history will be presented followed by a dance. A queen, Miss Hazen, will preside over the day's activities.

DeValls Bluff will hold a Centennial Fair for Prairie county on October 1-3. A queen will be crowned for the fair.

Centennial events of Randolph county begin July 19 with an elaborate water carnival at Current River Beach, August 25-26 to be four days crowded with interesting programs.

On August 23, the Children's Celebration takes place with a pageant at 7 p. m. in Pocahontas. Homecoming day will be highlighted with a parade at 11 a. m. on August 26. Old Settlers Day is scheduled for August 27. A parade will feature Soldiers Day on August 28.

But that matter of hats!

There is no earthly reason why a man should uncover his head, even in the presence of a woman. She is just another human being, and goodness knows, she has tried hard enough to jump down from her pedestal and play some real tennis. The trouble is that she wants to keep the ball in her own court all the time. She feels as though she is something special when a man, even a bald-headed, grandfatherly man whom she never will see again in any elevator removes his hat just because she is going along on the elevator journey.

Women want to be placed on a parity with men, they say. Yet they resent it when they are. What they really desire is to be given a place on an

Says Those Who Disobey Orders Are Sometimes "Bumped Off"

DETROIT—(AP)—A former member of the Black Legion testified Tuesday that members of the secret society who refused to obey orders "were given a tongue lashing or a beating. Some times they were 'bumped off.'"

The witness was Frederick A. Guley, one of six men held on charges of "seizing and confining" Robert Penland, steel worker.

Contradicting Penland's own testimony that he was not whipped, but was taken from his home and warned for not attending legion meetings, Guley voluntarily took the stand at the Common Pleas Court examination and told of his activities.

He declared he and two other members took Penland to a meeting place where he was flogged with a black-snake whip.

Under cross-examination of Clyde L. Fulton, attorney for the other five defendants, Guley said he was acting for William W. Voisine, Ecorse village president, in Black Legion activities. He said the legion was opposed to Voisine politically.

Voisine charged recently that the organization bombed his home during a political campaign last year.

The six men held for trial on the charges are Guley, Thomas F. Cox, Earl Angstadt, Charles King, Harold Lawrence and Wilbur Robinson.
